

Vocational Training Program

As part of the curriculum, all High School students at HDA must participate in the vocational training program. The students learn the importance of diligence and perseverance, as well as enjoying opportunities to develop a skill that will help them become economically independent.

“Manual training is deserving of far more attention than it has received. Schools should be established that, in addition to the highest mental and moral culture, shall provide the best possible facilities for physical development and industrial training. Instruction should be given in agriculture, manufacturing, covering as many as possible of the most useful trades, —also in household economy, healthful cookery, and sewing, hygienic dressmaking, the treatment of the sick and kindred lines. Gardens, workshops, and treatment rooms should be provided, and the work in every line should be under the direction of skilled instructors.” Ed p. 218

Two objectives of the vocational program:

1. To teach the student good work habits.
2. To teach the student skills of a trade.

Liability Release

With the understanding that students are being trained in a vocational area, this agreement forever releases, discharges, and holds harmless Hartland Day Academy or Hartland Institute and its employees, and any and all entities involved with the above-mentioned organization.

This release specifically includes, but is not limited to any and all alleged negligent acts, errors and omissions of any of the released persons and entities. In addition to economic damages, deaths, and conditions of health whether or not immediately apparent following the training or which may at any time thereafter develop.

This agreement shall be binding upon the student, his/her parents, the supervisor of the vocational training where the student is being trained and any and all entities involved with the above-mentioned organizations.
